PRESIDENT'S INVITATION

On behalf of the IPWEAQ Board and the organising committee, I invite you to join us at the conference of the year! The Conference Committee has put together a program that provides "something for everyone". If you work in roads, if you are involved in infrastructure, or if you are a "watery" person there are technical papers specifically for you. And when you want a break from the technical side, there are presentations on Contracts, Diversity, How to?, Spatial Solutions and Sustainability. Have a look at the program and I'm sure you'll agree it has a very strong and applicable content.

The Keynote Speakers of Cr Campbell Newman, David Stewart (TMR), John Bradley (DERM), Jon Black (Unity Water) and Dr Graham Fraine (TMR) will provide up to the moment information from the government and utility perspectives, and the invited Keynotes by Bruce Sullivan and Phil Jauncey may challenge you. We have invited our National President John Truman and the President of our colleagues across 'the ditch' INGENIUM, Ray McIndoe to bring us up-to-date on their activities.

With the IPWEAQ 2010 State Conference being held in Brisbane this year it allows easy access to our LOGOV Expo, being held at Meakin Park (near Logan). Delegates will be taken to LOGOV on Wednesday for lunch and the opening of the Expo and have the opportunity throughout the afternoon to talk to the suppliers of products and services.

A great social program is in store! At the beginning of the Conference you can join others on a tour to the XXXX Brewery on Tuesday afternoon (remembering there is the rest of the week to get through!) and at the end you can play golf on Saturday. In the middle ... well we cover all fields - there's Asian, Greek and modern Australian. And of course there's a good program for the Accompanying Persons.

Breakfast is available each morning in the exhibition area and will provide a chance to talk to mix with these important people. There will also be some entertainment not to be missed.

Bardon is not far from the CBD of Brisbane and is in a leafy environment with close access to the walking/running trails of Mt Coot-tha, so you can keep your body in tune while you challenge your brain. And during the breaks, have your kinks massaged away.

All in all, this will be a great conference and I commend it to you!

David Wiskar
President, IPWEAQ

Conference Committee:

Stewart Wall, Trevor Williams, Justin Fischer, Suzanna Barnes-Gillard and Christine Warne.

Keynote Speakers:

Bruce Sullivan, Red Hot Relationships

Bruce is a relationship specialist and a proven performer in achieving results through people for over 20 years. His practical, hands on experience is based on working in both the community and business. He is a husband to Gillian of 22 years, a father to Hannah (11) and Declan (8) and he currently balances this with being a Director of six private companies.

Managing his own businesses since his teens, by age 24 he had established his own million-dollar network of businesses and he has an extended track record of working with a wide range of private and public organisations, both in Australia and overseas.

Bruce has also worked with individuals, families and communities providing education and opportunities for personal improvement. It is this experience that has given Bruce a unique understanding of our ability to relate to one another in the workplace and at home. This is what sets his work apart and gives a very practical and timely insight into the human side of the corporate environment.

Dr Phil Jauncey

Dr Phil Jauncey is a performance psychologist, whose activities include corporate facilitation, education of staff and managers, personal success mentoring, speaking about parenting, counselling and working as a sports psychologist. As a keynote speaker, Phil has been described as "one of Queensland's most dynamic presenters and has stimulated sports and professional audiences alike. His contagious passion for life has an overwhelming ability to leave guests wanting more as he tackles the more technical mind sets of self development and gets back to basics."

In 1991 Phil became an independent consultant, working in the areas of business, sport, education and counselling. He is often called upon as a keynote speaker locally, nationally and internationally. He also conducts in-house workshops for companies in staff evaluation, understanding self, sales, marketing strategy and change management. He has on-going consultancies with companies to develop self-awareness and relationship skills for staff members and enhance problem-solving and people management skills for managers. His workshops are interactive and designed to help clients develop their own skills.
